

Memo

To: Science Teachers
From: AP Chemistry Class
Date: November 8, 2008
Subject: In Lab Before Christmas

It is that time again. The holidays are coming and the AP Chemistry class is planning to explode the Gym! Well, OK, perhaps we will not go quite that far. What we are really talking about is the tenth annual "In the Lab Before Christmas," the chemical demonstrations and magic show. It will be Thursday, December 4 in the Gym from 7 to about 8:30 pm.

Tickets will be sold by the AP Chemistry class around campus, and at the door, $3 for students and $5 for adults. At the door tickets are $1 more. Faculty are invited to come as guests of the AP class. We are providing a couple of posters for you to display in your class.

As always, we do our best to make this an educational event. PowerPoint will slides to illustrate the principles related to chemistry in each of the experiments. We hope you will encourage your students to come, perhaps by offering some extra credit. Tickets will include a tear-off section to give to you proving students attended. Perhaps you might also request a paragraph about one (or more) of the demonstrations.

Thank you for your support.